

FOURSIGHT™

A game of deception.

INSTRUCTIONS

THE CONTENTS:

1 Game Board; 2 scoring markers; 16 white bases; 8 red and 8 yellow scoring pieces.

THE PLAYERS:

Two people or two teams.

THE OBJECT:

To score 4 points. One point is scored by placing 3 of your colored scoring pieces in a row (forward, sideward, or diagonally) or by placing four (4) of your colored scoring pieces in a row, you can automatically win.

THE START:

Choose the color each will be playing. Place your scoring marker at the "0" in your color. Each player places 8 white bases (4 and 4), 4 red and 4 yellow pieces in the appropriately outlined circles at the ends of the game board.

NOTE: THIS MEANS THAT EACH PLAYER MUST ALSO PLAY THEIR OPPONENT'S SCORING PIECES!

THE PLAY:

(1) Decide who goes first.

(2) Before any colored scoring piece can be placed on a square within the game board, the square must first be occupied by a white base piece. Therefore, the use and placement of the white bases are as critical as the colored scoring pieces.

(3) Once a white base or colored piece is placed on the board, it cannot be moved.

(4) Alternate turns.

(5) If a player creates 3 of their color in a row, move the scoring marker one point. Continue play until there is a winner.

(6) If neither player has reached 4 points after all the pieces are played, a second round of play resumes the scoring.

VARIATIONS

—FOUR PERSON FOURSIGHT— Two players play as a team but cannot coach each other.

—MANIC— Scoring is the same as Foursight but you only play on one level.

TO START:

Each player places 3 reds, 3 yellows, 1 white, 1 upside-down white, and scoring token in the starting position on the board.

THE PLAY:

Play the same as Foursight on one level but the white pieces are wild (they count as a red or a yellow piece) and the upside-down white pieces are dead spots for both players.

STRATEGY:

Play the dead piece where it will do the most harm.
